Northern Elementary students place in art contest

Artsonia.com held a Kentucky Art Education Association Art Show from January 1 to May 1 for students in grades kindergarten through fifth. Schools across the state of Kentucky submitted up to 30 students' artwork for review with the pieces separated by grades. Then a student from each grade level was chosen as the winner on May 25.

Buffy Houchens from Northern Elementary sent in artwork from several of her students during the spring term. Out of those students three were picked as state winners in the art show. Macy Hedenberg, Alexis Magee, and Michael Biddle, were announced as the winners.

Descendents honor Civil War soldier Edward Lee Harper

By Roger McKinney, Reporter

The 53rd family reunion of the descendants of Edward Harper took place on August 19, 2012.

This Year's Harper Family Reunion President Amy McCall said that the venue of the event alternates between Kentucky and Indiana. Sunday before last a military stone was dedicated to Harper, who was a Civil War Union soldier. The ceremony was conducted at Mt. Vernon Cemetery by the Honor and Color Guard of the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War. Members of the organization are not re-enactors, although they dress in post Civil War 1866 U.S. Army uniforms. The Sons of Union Veterans have been memorializing Civil War Union soldiers since 1881. Nationally the group has 8,000 members. Four of their camps are located in Kentucky. Earlier this year Officer Jack Mills of the Sons of Union Veterans contacted Jonathan Smith Sr., who is the oldest living descendent of Edward Harper (Mr. Smith is 89), to plan the dedication of the memorial stone. The date of the Harper Family Reunion was coordinated with the time of the dedication.

To begin the ceremony Master of Ceremonies- Commander, John Kalbfleisch, welcomed everyone to the event. Commander Kalbfleisch played a number of Civil War era songs on his harmonica. American Legion Chaplain Shelby McDowell gave the invocation. Michael Todd McCall II (the great-great-great grandson of Edward Harper) read out loud a brief biography of his grandfather. Then there was a family unveiling of the memorial stone and a family placement of a ceremonial wreath. Edward Harper was given a 21-gun salute by the Honor and Color Guard of the S.U.V.C.W. Caleb Smith, the great-great-great grandson of the honored soldier was one of the seven riflemen. Sons of Union Veterans' Bugler Bob Orbach, played taps. Officer Mills presented a folded American Flag to Jonathan Smith Sr. Chaplain McDowell gave the benediction. There were closing remarks by Commander Kalbfleisch and Harper Family Reunion President Amy McCall. A group portrait was taken by Beth Wilson.

The following biographical information that was read by Michael McCall as part of the dedication ceremony was taken directly from Edward Lee Harper's 1935 obituary published in The Falmouth Outlook: Edward Lee Harper age 86 years, one of Pendleton County's best known Civil War veterans, died near Oakland, on February 17, 1935 following an extended illness. Mr. Harper was born in Lee County, Virginia on August 18, 1847. He belonged to that family of Harpers, from which came Harper's Ferry, Virginia, distinguished in history as the scene of John Brown's Attack against slavery. It was in this locality that his boyhood spent. He was in the very midst of the stirring scenes that marked the beginning of the war between the North and the South. It was quite natural that his sympathies should be swayed by one side or the other. He cast his lot with the North, entering the U.S. Army at the tender age of fourteen years. He served two enlistments during the term of the war. His last enlistment was Company G, 4th Kentucky Infantry, with Captain West commanding. He fought in several great battles of the war and was twice captured and committed to military prison in the South. Once he was exchanged and once he escaped. When the Civil War was over, he was one of the prisoners on the Sultana that exploded and sank in the Mississippi. He swam to shore while most were too weak to swim. (He is listed in the book "written by an attorney in Memphis, Shelby County, Tennessee) At the close of the war Mr. Harper received his Honorable Discharge and was mustered out of the service. Being just a young man he then turned toward his face toward what was then the West and came to Kentucky and located. It was here that he met Miss Eliza King of McKinneysburg in the year 1871. They married and had nine children, 37 grandchildren, 53 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren. Eliza and Edward were members of the McKinneysburg Christian Church for over 50 years. Eliza died in the year of 1920. Mr. Harper was one of Pendleton County's highly esteemed citizens. He spent most of his life on the farm. He

Rural americans care about our energy future

By Virginia Wolkling, virginiaaw@cfr.org, Center for Rural Affairs

As Election Day rapidly approaches, elected officials and candidates for public office are criss-crossing rural America eagerly seeking votes. And that creates an opportunity for those of us that live in America's small towns and rural areas to ask candidates about their views on renewable energy and other crucial rural issues.

Ask them what their vision is for renewable energy development. Ask if they will work to increase energy efficiency and accelerate renewable energy development, both of which will create new green jobs in rural areas.

Ask them what they will do to ensure energy decisions reflect the will of your community and ensure everyone's voice is heard. A community-based approach to energy development is our best chance to develop domestic, home-grown, and localized resources.

Ask them to support tax credits that drive renewable energy development. Inquire whether they will fund local loan or grant programs to promote small-scale renewable energy use by farms, businesses, and homeowners.

Lastly, ask them to commit to increasing funding for renewable energy research. Land grant institutions, USDA research stations, and Department of Energy national laboratories play a critical role. State and federal funding for these programs is at risk.

It's clear that renewable energy holds great economic potential for our rural communities. But we need bold leadership from our elected officials to help tell the story of the value of renewable energy and your voice is crucial in making that happen.

MAE PURDY AND DR. JAMES ERNST

Purdy retires after 32 years in

After 32 years in the optical business, Mae Purdy has retired from the office of Dr. James Ernst. Mae started with Dr. William Clinger in 1979 and continued with Dr. Ernst all these years. She improved her skills and techniques all the time and attained recognitions as a Certified Paraoptometric.

When Mae started optometry offices had not changed much since the 1940's. Business was conducted with paper and pencil and the doctor did all the testing, measuring and dispensing of spectacles. Contact lenses were hard and rarely fit. Injuries or disease could not be treated.

Mae experienced many changes in the optical business and kept up with them in a professional manner. She learned to adjust and repair glasses and properly measure them for optimal fit and vision. As computerization came into the practice, Mae learned the latest system to manage the practice. Then she learned the skills needed to begin testing patients with the newest automatic equipment before the doctor would come into the exam room. She taught many people how to insert, remove and care for their contact lenses. Through all the training Mae kept the patient's needs first.

Congratulations to Mae Purdy on her retirement. She served the Falmouth community well with her skills, humor and human touch. She will be missed.

First man on the moon, Neil Armstrong, has passed away at 82

The US astronaut Neil Armstrong secured his place in history on 20 July 1969, when, as commander of the Apollo 11 spacecraft, he was the first man to set foot on the moon, and made his famous statement: "That's one small step for man, one giant leap for mankind." Armstrong, who has died aged 82, was accompanied on that epic journey by Edwin "Buzz" Aldrin, the pilot of the lunar landing module with the call sign Eagle, and Michael Collins, pilot of the command module with the call sign Columbia.

Armstrong was born in Wapakoneta, Ohio, and from a young age was fascinated with aviation, experimenting with model airplanes and a home-built wind tunnel. At 15 he began flying lessons in an Aeronca Champion, and by 16 acquired his student pilot's licence. In 1947, he enrolled at Purdue University on a Navy scholarship to pursue a degree in aeronautical engineering, but in 1949 the Navy called him to active duty in the Korean War. As a navy pilot, he flew 78 combat missions. He was shot down once and received three medals for his military service. In 1952 he returned to his studies and completed his BSc at Purdue and an MSc in aerospace engineering at the University of Southern California.

In 1955 he became a civilian research pilot at the Lewis research centre of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics (Naca), the forerunner of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (Nasa). Later that year, he transferred to Nasa's high-speed flight station (today, Nasa's Dryden flight research centre) at Edwards Air Force Base in California as an aeronautical research scientist, and then as a pilot. He was a test pilot on many pioneering high-speed aircraft, including the 4,000mph X-15. He flew over 200 different models of aircraft, including jets, rockets, helicopters and gliders.

The choice among competing techniques for achieving a moon landing still needed some intensive research and development.

How to self-apply acupressure to vanquish nausea in any situation

It's common for people to suffer nausea after having surgery -- and it's not only uncomfortable but also provokes concern for issues of immobility, incisions and fresh sutures. Curiously, no matter how sophisticated and complex your surgical procedure may have been, an effective antidote to the nausea may be a simple and drug-free one, placing pressure at a certain point on your wrist. There have been numerous studies on this in the last several years, and recently a Cochrane review confirmed that stimulating the wrist acupressure point significantly reduces the risk of post-surgery nausea and vomiting for many people.

The specific point is acupuncture/acupressure Pericardium six (P6), which when stimulated releases several neurotransmitters, including serotonin, dopamine and endorphins, says Lixing Lao, PhD, licensed acupuncturist and director at the Center for Integrative Medicine at University of Maryland School of Medicine. These brain chemicals block nausea-producing ones. When I spoke with Dr. Lao, he said that studies have shown this to be effective not only for nausea from surgeries, chemotherapy and radiation, but also motion sickness and morning sickness.

How to do it:

Many studies have used acupuncture or acupressure, and some used wristbands with a button positioned to stimulate the P6 point, but it's also easy to ward off nausea using only the tip of your thumb, says Dr. Lao. Here is how to find the correct point: Put your index and middle finger together and place them lengthwise across the inner wrist, just under the first crease of your palm. Press the mid-point between the two prominent tendons just below your fingers but a little closer to the body. Do this on both sides, alternating arms.

Dr. Lao says to start massaging the P6 point in any situation where you anticipate becoming nauseated. For example, if you have a tendency to get motion sickness, begin your massage as you get into the car and continue for a few minutes. If you start to become nauseated later, press and massage some more until nausea goes away. Sorry to say this doesn't work for everyone, but it won't take you long to find out if you are among the lucky, because when you find the right spot, you'll feel relief in minutes.

Dr. Lao adds that the wristbands, available in pharmacies and department stores, are fine and very convenient -- just be sure you place the button, and the tip of your thumb, on the correct spot so you can add some pressure of your own if necessary to get sufficient stimulation.

Heroin, a terrible epidemic across our county

Unless you are a hermit, you probably know someone who has suffered from the current plague, or better yet , heroin epidemic that is sweeping our county's communities. You may have known some of those who have died over the past few years. Think of the panic this would have caused if these young people had died from "west Nile" or "swine flu" but for some reason heroin, though more deadly, is not as great a concern.

Please take a few moments to read these two verses. Take them with you. Share them with neighbors, your congregation, friends and family. We are all vulnerable to the social discord that comes from heroin addiction. We are all responsible to each other to rid our community of it, too.

If anyone really knows
I am Heroin" I knew homes, tear families apart, take your children, and that's just the start. I'm more costly than diamonds, more costly than gold, the sorrow I bring is a sight to behold, and if you need me, I'm so easily found. I live all around you, and hang around town. I live with the rich, I live with the poor, I live down the street, and might be next door. My power is awesome; test me you'll see, But if you do, you may never break free! Just try me once and I might let you go, but try me twice, and I'll own your soul. When I possess you, you'll steal and you'll lie. You'll do what you have to just to get high. The crimes you'll commit, for my narcotic name, to you it's worth the pleasure of me in your veins. You'll lie to your Mother; you'll steal from your Dad. When you see their tears, you should feel sad, But you'll forget your morals and how you were raised, I'll take over your conscience, and shorten your days. I take kids from parents, and parents from kids, I turn people from God, and separate from friends. I'll take everything from you, from your looks to your pride, I'll be with you always, right by your side. You'll give up everything-your family, your home, your friends, your money, you'll be mine and mine alone. I'll take and take, til you have nothing more to give, When I'm finished with you, you'll be lucky to live. If you try me be warned-this is no game, If given the chance, I'll drive you insane, I'll ravish your body; I'll control your mind, I'll own you completely; your soul will be mine! The nightmares I'll give you while lying in bed, The voices you'll hear from inside your head, The sweats, the shakes, the visions you'll see, I want you to know, these are all part of the poison of me. I'll strip you of faith and be your only love, you lose all hope, I'll be all you think of. You'll regret that you tried me, they always do, But you came to me, not I to you. You knew this would happen, Many times you were told, But you challenged my power, and chose to be bold. You could have said no, and just walked away, If you could live that day over, now what would you say? I'll be your master; you will be my slave, I'll even go with you, when you go to your grave. Now that you have met me, what will you do? Will you try me or not, Its all up to you. I will bring you more misery than words can tell, if you take my hand, I'll drag you to hell"

Take Me In Your Arms (Miss Heroin)

So now, little man, you've grown tired of grass LSD, goofballs, cocaine and hash, and someone, pretending to be a true friend, said, "I'll introduce you to Miss Heroin."

Well honey, before you start fooling with me, just let me inform you of how it will be.

For I will seduce you and make you my slave, I've sent men much stronger than you to their graves. You think you could never become a disgrace, and end up addicted to Poppy seed waste.

So you'll start inhaling me one afternoon, you'll take me into your arms very soon. And once I've entered deep down in your veins, The craving will nearly drive you insane.

You'll swindle your mother and just for a buck. You'll turn into something vile and corrupt. You'll mug and you'll steal for my narcotic charm, and feel contentment when I'm in your arms.

The day, when you realize the monster you've grown, you'll solemnly swear to leave me alone. If you think you've got that mystical knack, then sweetie, just try getting me off your back.

The vomit, the cramps, your gut tied in knots. The jangling nerves screaming for one more shot. The hot chills and cold sweats, withdrawal pains, can only be saved by my little white grains.

There's no other way, and there's no need to look, for deep down inside you know you are hooked. You'll desperately run to the pushers and then, you'll welcome me back to your arms once again.

And you will return just as I foretold! I know that you'll give me your body and soul. You'll give up your morals, your conscience, your heart. And you will be mine until, "Death Do Us Part"

LEGISLATIVE PERSPECTIVE ON KENTUCKY GENERAL ASSEMBLY

STATE REP. TOM MCKEE

With Labor Day on our minds, now is the ideal time to recognize our working men and women who sacrifice to make our state and nation great. There are many areas where they have achieved success, but I want to highlight three industries that have been in the news recently. Combined, they employ tens of thousands of Kentuckians and have strong ties to our region.

Two of the industries – horses and forests – may be as close as our back door, while many of our family and friends undoubtedly work for manufacturers whose products are exported to countries ranging from China and Canada to Italy and India. As chair of the Kentucky House of Representatives' Agriculture and Small Business Committee, I have had the opportunity over the years to learn more about the inner workings of each of these. The one I am most familiar with, however, is our signature horse industry.

Last year, horse-related sales ranked fourth among agriculture's commodities, putting them just behind cattle sales and trailing poultry and corn.

While we have an idea of how many horses there are in the commonwealth – about 350,000 – no one knows for sure what the exact number is. That will soon change, however, thanks to an ongoing census being done by equine programs at the University of Kentucky and University of Louisville and the Kentucky Horse Council. The U.S. Dept. of Agriculture and the Governor's Office of Agricultural Policy are involved as well.

A final tally is expected by the end of this year, and a full account of the economic impact horses have will arrive in early 2013.

Just last year, the General Assembly's Program Review and Investigations Committee took an in-depth look at the Thoroughbred breeding industry and found that it alone accounts for 17,600 jobs.

The report also showed that our reputation in breeding has only gotten stronger. Kentucky had 43 percent of the nation's Thoroughbred mares bred in 2010, for example, which nearly equaled the combined total of the next nine states. The percentage of foals registered here, meanwhile, also topped 40 percent, which was well above the 19 percent we had in 1991.

Just as we rank highly in this area, we have seen similar success when it comes to our forests. Florida is the only state to have a greater diversity of hardwood trees, and we're second as well among the states when it comes to hardwood production. About 3,500 Kentucky companies depend on this natural resource, and they generate $4.5 billion in sales while employing more than 30,000 people.

Forestry officials reported this summer that Mother Nature produces about twice as much wood as we take each year, which underscores the success of our conservation efforts. Overall, it's estimated that there are seven billion trees in the commonwealth, with the red and sugar maples being the most populous and the yellow poplar producing the most lumber.

In the export industry, the most popular products we ship are tied to transportation, which is no surprise since we're one of the top states in auto production.

The Cabinet for Economic Development says we shipped $19 billion worth of products in 2010, which put us 19th among the states. All but a few, however, have built-in advantages because they either share a border with Canada or Mexico or are along the coasts. If you take those away, our ranking rises to fifth.

Kentucky's exports have doubled in the last decade, a pace that is well ahead of the national average during most of that time. Canada is Kentucky's biggest trade partner by far, because it buys more than the next five countries combined.

China is eighth on the list, but our exports there have risen 1,000 percent since 2000. India is poised for significant growth as well, since Gov. Beshear announced a major trade deal last month that will have that country buying $7 billion worth of coal mined here and West Virginia during the next 25 years.

Overall, exports are responsible for about a fifth of Kentucky's 209,000 manufacturing jobs. At the same time, there is considerable foreign investment here as well, with Japan's Toyota plant in Georgetown perhaps the most widely known. The state's Cabinet for Economic Development put the total foreign investment figure at $28 billion in 2007, the latest year available.

As these examples show, Kentucky has been blessed when it comes to these three industries, and all play important roles for our state's economy. It's certainly something to consider as we return to work following another Labor Day.

With that in mind, I want to take a moment to recognize those whose job is to protect us around the world. Recently, one of our legislative district's own soldiers – David Chamberlin – was badly wounded in Afghanistan, but indications are that he will be able to largely recover. His sacrifice underscores the danger our soldiers face every day as they work to preserve our freedom, and for that, we are definitely grateful. We also wish David a speedy recovery.

As always, I appreciate hearing from those in our district who have any questions or comments regarding state government. If you would like to contact me, please address any correspondence to Room 332B, Capitol Annex, 702 Capitol Avenue, Frankfort, KY 40601.

You can also leave a message for me or for any legislator at 800-372-7181. For those with a hearing impairment, the number is 800-896-0305. I hope to hear from you soon.

SENATOR KATIE STINE'S FRANKFORT CONGRESSIONAL REVIEW

SENATOR KATIE STINE

Northern Kentucky.

Commissioner of education Terry Holliday invited me to accompany him on a tour of Southern Elementary. The school is pioneering a new program to better implement full-day kindergarten that can be a model for other districts. Through creative staffing and a can-do spirit in the school, the district is saving $150,000 a year while still offering the children a full complement of instruction including reading, math, science, and social studies along with art, physical education, library, and music. Extended class time is spent on such enrichment activities as computer, fine/gross motor skills, and read-aloud time, facilitated by trained personnel. It was a great opportunity to show off all that the school administrators, teachers, and students have done.

The task force on student access to technology met on Monday. The goal of the task force is to develop a strategy and funding mechanism to provide fifth and sixth grade students with access to computing devices such as laptops, tablets, netbooks, and e-readers for school and home use. As co-chair of this task force, I was pleased to welcome Gene Kirchner, superintendent of Ft. Thomas Independent Schools and Diana M. McGhee, director of technology and information, to discuss the innovative practices in their schools. Ginger Webb, assistant superintendent for teaching and learning, also came and spoke about the program's success from the teachers' perspective. Ft. Thomas has an exciting "BYOD" policy, or bring your own device, where students bring their own technology from home which is then integrated into school lectures, online videos and presentations, and even homework help. Obviously, this is a significant culture shift in schools where the use of cell phones was once frowned upon. This program is showing great promise in Ft. Thomas and saves the school system from making investments in technology that may become obsolete shortly after purchase. Students learn how to responsibly integrate technology into their instruction with teachers offering more comprehensive lessons outside the time constraints of a class period. This also has real life application for the students so they are more interested and engaged in the learning process.

The task force on the Unified Juvenile Code, charged with reviewing the oftentimes disparate and disjointed juvenile corrections statutes, met and we looked at the different drug and psychological treatments offered in the state for juveniles. We also heard testimony about how children's brains develop. For example, it should be no surprise that kids don't have a well-developed sense of consequence. At this meeting, the task force divided into small work groups to focus on truancy, court jurisdiction, and information-sharing across agencies.

Finally, I also toured Kincaid Lake with several Fish and Wildlife officials to better assess the challenges posed by increased sedimentation that is resulting in lower lake levels. I remain concerned about the loss of recreation opportunities and tourism/economic development dollars for our families and visitors. However, I am hopeful that these state officials are working hard to create consensus and find a solution.

Please feel free to call my office in Frankfort if you have any questions or concerns at 1-800-372-7181. My staff and I are always ready to assist.

Knoxville Baptist youth helping to keep Falmouth clean

Dear Editor,
I am very thankful to Pendleton County's 109 Board for the opportunity to pick up trash along the Ed Monroe Road in Falmouth with my church youth group and parents. It gives me a lot of joy to know that I'm helping out my community while raising money for our youth mission camps and events! While doing trash pickup, found a lot of fast food containers and drink bottles/cans. On behalf of the youth at Knoxville Baptist Church, I ask that you please respect your community and do not litter!

Knoxville Baptist Church Youth Group

Youth recreation football cleaned roads for the community

Dear Editor,
Pendleton County Youth Recreation Football helped keep our community beautiful with a litter pick up on July 28, covering five miles of Knoxville-Gardnersville Road.

Thirty-one football players, cheerleaders, their parents and coaches filled 49 bags of trash. It was an extremely positive experience, for all involved, especially for the children as the PC Youth Football program strives to help them with valuable life lessons.

The children had many comments, some funny and some serious. Finding several empty beer bottles, the kids quickly put two and two together, pointing out driver safety, hoping they were not drinking and driving. Several items were found in the creek that runs along the road. Several of the kids were upset that it contaminated the water supply for wildlife. The group was able to find very nice bicycle along the road and return it to its rightful owner.

A special thank you goes to Knoxville Christian Church for the use of their parking and bathroom facilities. Special thanks also go out to the friendly, appreciative and generous homeowners along Knoxville-Gardnersville Road, who obviously try very hard to win the fight against trash throwing travelers.

Thank you,
Mark D. Beck

Harrison County soldier recieves purple heart for courageous actions

by: Jessie Beckett
SPC/4, David Leland Chamberlin, 25, of Harrison County, of the 173rd Airborne, 1/504th in the United States Army, was awarded the Purple Heart, Combat Infantryman's Badge after sustaining life threatening injuries in Charkh, Afganistan. He was wounded by a 40mm rifle grenade and took three rounds from an AK-47.
David's patrol element went out under the cover of darkness, to pull security and report enemy movement, about 3:30 a.m., on August 23, 2012. They had just received word at day break to pick up and link with the rest of the platoon when a rifle grenade went off about three feet away from David and a fellow soldier. His fellow soldier was unharmed, but David was directly hit. David described his reaction, "I felt a sharp pain in my right hip and a white flash and a lot of heat from the explosion. Immediately afterwards we started taking accurate fire from two or three AK-47's about 150 meters away from our position. I rolled behind a wall because I couldn't move my legs. Then I realized my rifle had been blown out of my hands so I rolled back into the open to get it and started returning fire."

He started to regain feeling in his legs, unaware of the severe damage to his upper hip, and moved to set up a hasty position with the rest of the platoon. While moving back to the combat outpost they came under heavy fire for about 20 minutes.
David continued, "When I got back to the COP (combat outpost) a medic met me at the gate and drove me on an ATV to the aid station where they immediately gave me some morphine and started working on me. I lost quite a bit of blood during the 45 minutes from when I was hit and the mile movement and fire fight back to the COP. In the aid station they finally got the bleeding under control and called a medi vac in to take me away. I have about a pound of missing flesh in my right thigh...They flew me out to a bigger base and then from there put me out with morphine and did a little surgery on my leg...They said my war fighting days are over and that I will be needing a cane for a long time. But I should be alright."

David, in fact, had lost four units of blood and has since undergone four surgeries, so far, for injuries sustained. His last rites were administered twice in the first two days after the wounding. His father, John Chamberlin, pastor of Faith Baptist Church, Cynthiana responded "Literally thousands of people are praying for him. I believe that prayer has made a difference."

He is currently in a military hospital in Landstuhl, Germany and is able to walk 1/4 mile at this time.

Wall of honor for all military branches

The Veterans Wall of Honor is a unique national monument that honors all veterans, living and deceased, for their service and sacrifices to secure our freedom. Dedicated on Veterans Day 2008, it sits on a 2 ½ acre hilltop site in the historic Heritage Park in McDonough, Georgia. Old Glory, the 50 state flags and the emblems of all the military branches provide a grand backdrop for the focal point, a 75-foot long granite wall laser-engraved with depictions of various scenes of battle and service by our military, as well as famous quotes by our nation's leaders and excerpts from inspirational poems.
Sitting opposite the wall is an MIA/POW monument. With a graceful, skyward arc, a laser-engraved picture of an eagle taking flight, and the empty boots of a makeshift grave of a fallen comrade, it quotes the words of President Ronald Reagan, "America keeps a vigil for those who have not yet returned."
Together, the two monuments provide a powerful reminder of the United States' rich military history and a quiet place to reflect on the soldiers who fought for our country and the courage and honor they exemplified.

Adjacent to the Veterans Wall of Honor is the Historical Military Museum, dedicated to all veterans and their families. A great place to learn more about our veterans, their equipment and uniforms, and learn more about the way of life experienced by members of all the military services.

Pendleton FFA had busy summer

The Pendleton County FFA Chapter had a very busy summer. The first thing the Chapter attended was the Kentucky FFA State Convention held in Lexington at Rupp Arena. Members who attended are pictured.

2012 Pendleton County graduate Gabe Bowen was awarded the Kentucky FFA Degree at state convention.

Missy Combs stated, "State Convention was a lot of fun. I made new friends from across the state and can't wait till next year."

Shortly after state convention, members helped set up the floral hall for the Pendleton County fair. Everyone had a lot of fun bonding with the other FFA members. The fair gave FFA members opportunity to show off their hard work with their livestock projects, as well as an opportunity to assist in various events throughout the week.

Pendleton County FFA ended their summer attending the Kentucky FFA Leadership Training Center. To most members this is known as FFA camp.

Wildcats wounded head into showdown

Travis Brinkman goes for a defensive move in the game against Bishop Brossart.

By: Sam McClanahan, Reporter

You'll be hard-pressed to find anyone happier to see the calendar flip from August to September than Wildcats soccer coach Lisa Feltner. It's not because her club managed just a 3-5 record to open the 2012 season, but rather the onslaught of injuries that have plagued nearly half of the team's roster.

There are currently nine players battling through a wide range of ailments ranging from minor aches and pains, to back spasms and ankle sprains and fractures. The walking (or limping) wounded Wildcats played three consecutive road games last week, coming away with just one victory. However, when it was all said and done, Feltner found herself feeling pretty good about things.

"I feel like we survived this week more than anything," she said. "We played pretty well for the most part, and I look forward to getting our team back to full strength," she continued.

The week got off to a great start when the 'Cats knocked off Walton-Verona last Tuesday by a final score of 5-3. The Wildcats offense exploded for four first half goals and cruised the rest of the way. Senior Aven Harper led the way with a career high four goals. Junior Max Dewald added a goal and had three assists.

Last Wednesday, the 'Cats traveled to square off against Cooper High. Senior Andrew Antrobus gave the Wildcats an early 1-0 lead when he took a pass from Aven Harper to net his first varsity goal. Harper then went on to add a pair of goals himself as PC took a 3-2 lead into halftime. However, Cooper completely dominated the 'Cats in the second half, scoring eight times to run away with a 10-4 victory. Harper scored the lone Wildcat goal in the second half, and two vital members of the team left the game with injury. Senior Jacob Farwell was rushed to a local hospital with a fractured wrist, and junior Travis Brinkman exited with back spasms.

The 'Cats concluded the week with a long trip south to take on the Vikings of Rowan County. Following the contest, if you were to look at the stat sheet, you'd think the 'Cats came away with a convincing win. But despite outshooting Rowan County 24-17, and dictating tempo throughout most of the game, the 'Cats fell short by a score of 3-1. Aven

Harper scored his Northern Kentucky leading 12th goal of the season, but that would serve as the lone highlight in a game that should have been a PC victory.

"We had so many shots come close" described Feltner. "A couple of our attempts hit the crossbar of the goal and bounced off, and we had several narrow misses. Rowan's goalie did a great job as well."

Feltner hopes that with four days of rest her squad will be fully ready when taking on district foe Bishop Brossart tonight at home. The Mustangs enters tonight's 7pm contest as the eighth ranked team in the state.

"I'm hoping to have two of my injured starters back for this game. It will be a great test to see how we stack up against a very solid team, and we hope to perform well in front of our home fans," she said.

Also on the schedule this week is a noon matchup at Scott High on Saturday, September 8.

PC Ladycats soccer struggle on the road

By: Rachel Turner, Reporter

The Ladycats were struggling Monday, August 27 in their game against St. Pats. A pre-game rain seemed to drain all of the energy from the girls. They were not getting back on the defensive end and were caught watching the game. St. Pats took full advantage and attacked the weak Ladycats. They were able to score a goal within the first 5 minutes of the game.

This woke the Ladycats up some as they began to work a little better as a team. Eventually this team work would pay off. Junior, Kaitlyn Meadows and Senior, Tori Fitzpatrick would use wall passes to make their way down the field. Once on the offensive end, Tori would turn and find Freshman, Madison Wirth pulling away to the corner. Tori would rack up an assist as Madison scored a goal.

From this point on, it was difficult to get the Ladycats to focus on team ball. They were not getting their passes off quick enough or willing to place effort in getting first touches. They were not communicating well on or off the field and blaming one another for mistakes. All of these things showed on the field as the Ladycats were not as successful as they had been in the game played just two days prior.

Despite all of these problems, the girls were able to pull together to score another goal in the first half. Tori Fitzpatrick would find space and pass to Kaitlyn Meadows running through an open lane. Meadows met the ball, tricked the goalie into diving one way and scored on the opposite post.

The Ladycats would keep St. Pats from scoring another goal in the second half. This was due to the intensified defense on the Ladycats end. Junior, Michaela Wright and Freshman, Madison Wirth were key components of this effort as they were constantly making sure to get back to cover their outside marks. They were also heard talking and letting their defensive wings know that St. Pats were keeping players wide.

Both of these players were able to prove that it is possible to be effective on both the defensive and offensive end. Michaela Wright was seen challenging the St. Pats goalie a couple times and almost pulled away with a goal. Madison Wirth had already scored and scored again on a penalty kick due to a hand ball in the box. She also made lofty crosses to give players in the middle chances to meet the ball and place it into the net.

Again looking at the defensive end, Freshman, Alex Blackaby worked diligently to help out her team. She was seen covering her teammates and attacking in when they were beaten with the ball. She was then able to clear the ball up the field to find the ladycat forwards. She took direct kicks and placed them exactly where the coaches wanted her too. She was a force to be reckoned with on the field.

Katie Gaskins had a recorded seven goalie saves. The amount of shots on her was decreased in the second half of the game. This was a direct result of the Ladycats winning more first touches. They made 75 percent of the first touches in this half, compared to less than 50 percent in the first half.

The game would end in a 3-1 ladycat win. Despite the win, the coaches felt uneasy after the game. The Ladycats were not as strong as they had been in past games. The thing that worried the coaches the most was the lack of team work. They need to continue moving as a unit on the offensive and defensive end. They have to start keeping other teams from scoring and scoring more goals themselves. The coaches felt the girls were capable of much more than what they displayed during this game.

The Ladycats demise would continue on Wednesday, August 29. It was evident that they were unprepared for the speed and skills of Clark County. There were many problems with this game but once again team work and first touches would be the biggest.

Clark County was able to score seven goals in the first half with four being scored within the first 10 minutes of the game. They were simply outplaying the Ladycats on every level. After, halftime the Ladycats would play stronger but were unable to prevent Clark County in scoring four more goals to short game them with 2 minutes left in the second half.

On a positive note, the Ladycats were able to score a goal and this was accomplished 5 minutes into the second half. Madison Wirth would chip the ball to the middle where Erin Fitzpatrick would head the ball into the goal.

Looking at the defensive end, Katie Gaskins left the field with 16 goalie saves. She blocked more than 50% of the shots sent her way. The defensive effort was simply not there to help Katie out as the weak side was left open for Clark County to score. The midfielders and forwards were not back to challenge the ball and the girls were not playing aggressive.

The Ladycats have to pick up their game and fix these mistakes. They have to find it within themselves to trust each other and trust their coaches. The Ladycats traveled to the Bowling Green Tournament this past weekend. Results for these games were unavailable at press time.

The JV Ladycats would also fall to Clark County in a score of 0-3. The same mistakes seen on the varsity level were also seen with this team. The Ladycats were capable winning if they would have simply played the way they know how. The girls weren't pushing up the field fast enough or getting first touches which would shut them down on the offensive end. A long break this weekend should allow the players to rest and regroup.

Fast Pitch Softball parent meeting for September 6

It won't be long till the sounds and smell of spring are here and new Pendleton County Fast Pitch Varsity Coach Stephen Peed is anxious to get his Ladycats building towards a strong rebound season and laying the foundations of programs with the youth and middle school that will give future Ladycat teams the ability to compete with the best in our region.

Coach Peed, a Bracken County native and JV coach for Lawrence County when the varsity team competed in the state tournament, has been talking and signing up high school players but now he needs active parents who want to help rebuild this program.

In the PCHS cafeteria at 7 p.m., Thursday, September 6 there will be a parent informational meeting along with the creation of a Ladycat Fast Pitch Booster Group.

Ladycat volleyball spike Deming

After a tough loss for NKY #1 ranked team Simon Kenton, the PC Ladycat Volleyball team rebounded to beat 38th District foe Deming, 3-1 with scores of 25-13, 25-15, 17-25, 25-20. The Ladycats ran their record to 9-3 which is still the 2nd best record in the 10th Region behind Brossart's 9-1 mark.

Against Deming, it was the seniors leading the way as Senior Mackenzie Horn had four kills and three aces, Senior Brianna Crouch 11 aces and 15 assists, and Senior Sarah Schlueter seven kills and nine aces. Junior Destiny Shackelford got into the action with four kills.

Pendleton County has two big matchups this week traveling to Brooksville for a tripleheader versus Bracken County tonight and hosting always tough George Rogers Clark on Thursday.

Senior Brianna Crouch digs for the ball to save it and scores a point for the Ladycats. Her Ladycats stand with the second best record in the 10th Region at 9-3.

Ladycat JV golf downs Notre Dame

Over the past decade, Notre Dame Pandas have dominated the NKY golf scene winning regional title after regional title and finishing in the top 10 at state. The Ladycat JV Golf team sent a message that their future is ready to compete against anyone as they defeated Notre Dame JV 200-206 with freshmen Mackenzie Moore firing a 44 to earn medalist honors. It is her 2nd medalist honors this season earning a varsity medal earlier in the year. Holley Hart, 8th grade, was just one stroke behind at a 45.

The Ladycats traveled to Frankfort over Labor Day weekend but results were not available by press time. Wednesday, they play at Cynthiana Country Club vs the Fillies and go to Bowling Green Country Club to play in the Bowling Green Invitational on the state tournament course. A course that they are planning on making a return trip to the first week of October.

BLANKET CREEK

This past Sunday we celebrated 165 years of serving the Lord on this hill in Pendleton County. A lot of members have come and gone and a lot of souls have been saved for the Lord. We pray for another 165 years in this community as our young people grow and hopefully continue keeping Blanket Creek alive and prospering for the Lord.

We were blessed to have Mike and Timmy Cummins share their beautiful voices and talents with special music. As always they did a wonderful job and we hope they will come back soon.

The message came from Isaiah 55. Homecoming means to return to your roots and sometimes to where you first found God. Why should we come home to God? To find mercy, pardon, grace, peace and to be saved so we can join Jesus in His glory. It doesn't need to be a Homecoming for you to find God. He is always there waiting for you with outstretched arms. Back to Church Sunday is September 16. Please come join us.

We added Corey Ramsey to our prayer list, families of Lucille Barnhill and Gladys Pugh, our military and especially the lost.

BUTLER METHODIST

We are a family here at Butler United Methodist Church, we are not separated, we are close, and have mutual interests. God calls us to a newness, through our uniqueness and gifts (we each have gifts) to write God's story. So we put on the armor of God through our prayers for one another.

Many thanks to Carolyn and those who stayed after services on Sunday for the children's ministry luncheon and meeting.

A disciple Bible study class will be starting in September. Please sign up if you want to attend this 34-week course.

There were over 80 people who came out for the Impact Ky. that went to work in the Peach Grove area on Saturday. Thanks and Accolades to you all.

FALMOUTH BAPTIST

It was great to have Bill and Mildred Spence back in worship with us at Falmouth Baptist. We'd love to have you come worship with us too.

Bro. Cohen's message was about faith and follow up. He began by asking, "What hope do you have for your spiritual well being?" and "What degree of hope do you have that Jesus will bring it to pass?" In Luke 17:11-19 ten lepers recognized Jesus for who He is. Ten had faith and were healed, but only one followed up with thanks. Giving thanks is a form of worship. In Luke 18 beginning with verse 35 we see where Jesus heals a blind beggar. He was healed as a result of his faith. He praised God for what God did in response to that faith, he followed Christ and others praised God too. We hope your faith and follow through lead you to a wonderful relationship with Christ.

FALMOUTH CHRISTIAN

The worship service this week was brought to us by Brother Roger Taylor of the New Hope Church of Christ. His message was about the preservation and perseverance of all churches. We must preserve our church by following God's word. Only through loving one another as Christ loved us and keeping faith can Christians preserve the everyday changes in this world. Christ made each of us in His own likeness. We are all different in one way or another, but that is what makes us unique in our own way. We talk different, look different, think different and live different, but at the end of the day we each are accountable to only one person and that is our Lord Jesus Christ. He knows our heart, and that is all that matters. As Christians, if we follow God's word to "judge not that ye be not judged" then our churches will have a better chance to persevere through trying times. All that is important is that God's love prevails!

Our special music was brought to us by Mrs. Carol Cole of the Berry Christian Church. She delivered a message in song which was beautiful. It's always such a pleasure to have her join us.

Our sick list gets larger each week. Just keep praying for all those that have sickness in their lives. Remember those experiencing family problems, our military, the homeless, our church and those who have lost loved ones, the families of Judy Gregg, Nevelyn Black and Gladys Pugh. Pray for our country, our leaders and the many issues facing this administration. Pray for your neighbors and your friends.

Prayer can really make a difference in all our lives. Have a wonderful week.

FALMOUTH METHODIST

Few great rewards come without great risk. That's why the most respected people in history are risk takers. We all know the courage it took for Moses to lead his people from bondage; for Edward Jenner to develop the smallpox vaccine and for Martin Luther King Jr. to preach his message of non-violence.

But what about the opportunities we have to take risks, to accept challenges in everyday living? We can make up our mind to forgive a person who has caused us pain. We can find the courage to go against the crowd. We can take stock of our lives and make changes that need to be made.

Some of the most courageous people never make the history books. They're just people like you and me, who take advantage of opportunities to make this world, or themselves, a little better. Rise to the occasion and meet life's challenges.

FIRST BAPTIST

Tammy Moore blessed us with special music this Sunday.

Bro. Harry's message was taken from John. Some don't understand what it means to be born again. To be born again you must give up your sinful ways and let Jesus into your heart. Accept Him into your life as your Lord and Savior. Being born again isn't an option, it's a necessity in order to enter the Kingdom of God. We may not want to believe there is such a horrible place as hell, but it's written in God's Word. Repent before it's too late.

At the close of our service, Bro. Harry recognized little Gracyn Caroline, by presenting her with her first Bible. Gracyn is the daughter of Dawnisha Carpenter and the great-granddaughter of Pete and Ina Lawson. Welcome to our church family, Gracie.

"It is the Spirit who gives life; the flesh profits nothing; the words that I have spoken to you are spirit and are life."
~James 6:63

"Prayers can't be answered unless they're prayed!"

HARVEST COMMUNITY

Bro. Dale's message, "Choices we must make" was based on the scripture text of Romans 6:6-14. God gives us the freedom to make choices. We can choose to serve Him or to serve the world. Do we love the world more than God? Life with Him or without? It's your choice.

Upcoming events include the Relay team will have a booth at the dragon boat race at A.J. Jolly Park on September 8; a baby shower will be given for Amy Davidson at the Pavilion on September 9; and the men will have a meeting at 8 a.m. on September 15.

Prayer requests are Baby Naoh Helton, Michelle Caldwell, Karen Hyden, Mabel Olover, Glen Pennington, Barbara Schlipf, Larry Booth and Bruce Schack and parents.

Come visit with us at 111 E. Shelby Street, Sundays at 9:30 a.m. for Bible study, 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. worship and 6 p.m. youth group, Wednesdays at 6 p.m. prayer service and 7 p.m. praise team practice.

MORGAN CHRISTIAN

Today was our interim minister Mike Delaney's last Sunday with us. Bro. Mike has been called to a church in Madison, Indiana. We have enjoyed getting to know him and meeting part of his family in the short time he was with us. We wish him the very best in this future move. We are excited and looking forward to see what God has planned for Morgan in the days ahead. God is faithful and will bring the right person and us together in His time.

Thanks to Kathie for doing such a great job on our children's moments. Thanks to Steve, Kelly and Sarah for leading us in song.

"Great job" volleyball team for their wins over Grassy Creek and Antioch. Next game is with St. Cecilia this week August 28.

O u r prayers for all those on our prayer list. Special prayers for Earl who starts chemo soon and for Mariah Connoy who is having fainting spells, the cause yet unknown. Please pray for our military and our great country.

MT. CARMEL

MT. MORIAH

September is here! Fall is on it's way. My, how fast this year has gone by. It will be over before we know it.

All ladies are welcome to come to the next "Ladies Night Out" at 6 p.m., Friday, September 14, in the church basement.

Something to think about for your week, "Faith sees the invisible, believes the unbelievable and receives the impossible." Corrie Ten Boom.

NEW ZION

Upcoming opportunities include: the Fall Revival September 7, 8 and 9 and there will be a hot dog roast at 7 p.m. on September 22.

Thank you everyone for making the L.A.M.B.S. back to school bash such a success. It was awesome! I'm sure everyone that attended received a huge blessing, I know I did. "Lo, children are an heritage of the Lord: and the fruit of the womb is his reward." Psalm 127:3

Please remember in prayer Earl West, Terry Shay, Pam Sosbee, Tina Teagarden, Cindy Slusher, Conner Kilpela, Beulah West, Jack Sizemore, John Cochran, Gary Norris, Regina Vanlandingham, Wanda Arwood, Josh Blackaby, Sam Folenza, Dustin Warner, Dolly McDonald, Terry Downard, the Bruist family and all of our men and women in uniform. Also remember to pray daily for our country and its leaders.

OAKLAND CHRISTIAN

The message of the hour was about the woman at the well, "Rescued and Restored."

Oakland has a team in the Ky. Dragon Boat Festival "Paddling for the pink" at A.J. Jolly Park on September 8. We will be having a "Silent Auction" of baked goods on Sunday morning, September 2, in support of them. If you would like to donate baked goods, it would be appreciated.

Our annual Youth Fishing Tourney is September 15. Fish where you want, then return to church by noon for judging and eating. Contact Larry Bowling if you have any questions.

Congratulations to Keith and Crystal Colvin upon the birth of "Kane Ashley," August 19.

Our prayer concerns include Bev Bass, Juanita King, Ease Cordray (St. E. Ft. Thomas), Michelle Caldwell, Patty Oaks, Hilda Angell, Charles Lee Ramsey, Margaret McCann, Renee Fardo, shut-ins, cancer concerns, our armed services and our nation.

SOUTHSIDE

We opened the morning service with the hymns, "People Need the Lord" and "Lord, Be Glorified" on August 26.

Brother Clay Sullivan preached the sermon, "Committed to Prayer" from Acts 4:23-31. The three areas we should be committed to prayer are the following:

1. Committed to Praise
2. Committed to Intercession
3. Committed to Seeking

The memory verse of the week is "Ask and it will be given to you; seek and you will find; and knock and the door will be opened to you" from Matthew 7:7.

We are to continually seek the Lord in life and seek His will for our lives.

Come and worship with us this Sunday at 9 a.m. for Sunday school and 10 a.m. for worship service.

Have A Great Day!

TURNER RIDGE

Worship service started with hymns of praise and thanksgiving, Sunday, August 26. Uncle Dale led the children's sermon "Follow the leader" and explained to the kids that this is okay as a game, but in real life we need to be careful who we follow. Jesus said, "My sheep hear my voice and they follow me." We will know how to follow Jesus by reading our Bible.

Scripture reading was by Danielle Miller from 1 Corinthians 9:24-25. Robin Koettel shared special music "The King is Coming" and Bro. Dale's message was "Crown of righteousness and in-corruption."

As born again Christians there will be a crown of righteousness waiting. And we know everything on earth is corruptible and subject to decay, but our rewards will be heaven, where nothing will be corrupt!

Please remember to pray for those on our prayer list and for those who need Jesus.

SHELLEY MEYER, 4-H/YOUTH DEVELOPMENT

Thank You, Host Families!

The 2012 LABO/4-H International Exchange Program brought 15 Japanese exchange students to Kentucky. Pendleton County had two families volunteer to host two of those 15 Japanese exchange students. Theresa, Clark, Audrey, Dallas, and Marshall Emery hosted Hiroshi Takeuchi while Kenna, Tim, Moriah, Kelsey, and Clay Knight hosted Masahiro Fukata. The duration for this program lasted from July 22- August 18. These Pendleton families were able to present an excellent opportunity to their host Japanese youth, allowing them to experience cultural differences and partake in numerous, fun American and Kentucky adventures.

The Pendleton County 4-H Teen Club extended a welcoming gesture towards their new 4-H friends by inviting them to go canoeing on July 31st and to participate in their August 6th 4-H Teen Club meeting and picnic. Thank you Pendleton County 4-H volunteer host families for your generosity and for creating an unforgettable and enjoyable experience for the Japanese exchange students! Also, thank you to the Pendleton County 4-H Teen Club for being so inviting in your encouragement of involving the Japanese 4-Hers in your teen events!

University of Kentucky awarded USDA grant in conservation innovation

Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack announced last week $26 million in Conservation Innovation Grants (CIG) awarded to 59 entities across the nation for projects that test and prove innovative approaches to conserving America's private lands.

Awardees for Kentucky include:

- American Farmland Trust (IL, IN, KY, OH) $221,364 - Coupling precision agriculture with water quality credit trading
- Electric Power Research Institute, Inc. (OH, KY, IN) $1,000,000 - A credit trading registry for the Ohio River Basin Water Quality Trading Project
- North Carolina State University (AR, FL, GA, KY, MS, NC, OK, SC, TN, TX) $472,962 - Refine and regionalize southern phosphorous assessment tools based on validation and State priorities
- University of Arkansas (DE, MD, NY, PA, VA, WV, IA, KS, MO, NE, AR, FL, GA, KY, MS, NC, OK, SC, TN, TX) $57,924 - Identify methods to refine phosphorus indices and synthesize and extend lessons and outcomes from three regional indexing efforts

New this year was a special emphasis on water quality trading markets to demonstrate how farmers and ranchers can help municipalities and other point sources overcome high pollution control costs. Twelve entities received grant funds for this purpose.

"We believe there are states around the nation that are on the cusp of having thriving water quality trading markets," Vilsack said. "These grant awards will help develop projects that involve farmers and ranchers while they are helping to improve water quality."

In a water quality trading program, point sources buy environmental benefits or "credits" from landowners who install specific conservation practices. Water quality trading is a market-based approach that enables facilities to achieve needed pollution controls through the purchase of credits for a particular pollutant. Farmers can produce water quality credits by implementing conservation practices that reduce nutrients or sediment losses, and generally at a much lower cost than a municipal treatment facility. The goal is to achieve water quality improvements more cost-effectively by bringing together willing buying and sellers.

Reduce grocery costs

You have probably heard that the cost of food is expected to rise next year. You can do several things to reduce your current grocery expenses and hopefully prepare yourself for the expected price increase.

One of the easiest things to do is to plan ahead. That includes making a meal plan for the week and making a shopping list based on the ingredients you need to fulfill your plan. Check weekly store sale ads and product coupons in the newspaper and online to find the best prices for the items you need. However, don't buy something you don't have plans for just because it's on sale. Make sure sale items ring up with the correct price at checkout.

Avoid shopping hungry, in a hurry or with your kids, as all can increase impulse spending.

Wisely choose your shopping destination. For many rural consumers, convenience stores are the most accessible places to shop; however, they typically are one of the most expensive. You might find it is more cost-effective to go to a larger store in a nearby community once month to stock-up on commonly used non-perishable items.

Instead of increasing prices, some companies are reducing their packaging sizes. This can increase your spending, as you will need to replace these items more often. When at the grocery store, check the item's price per unit found on the shelf tag. The price per unit allows you to easily compare the costs of the product based on size. The price may be cheaper in a different size or brand. If your grocery store does not display a product's price per unit, you can easily calculate it by taking the cost of the product and dividing it by its packaging size. Bringing a small calculator may be helpful.

Review your grocery purchases at least monthly to determine total monthly grocery expenses and individual product prices. You may be able to further reduce spending by eliminating things that aren't necessities. Cheaper alternatives may be available for some of the more costly items.

For more information on lowering your grocery bill, contact the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

In early August, one of the grant awardees, the Electric Power Research Institute (EPRI), announced the signing of the first interstate water quality trading compact in the U.S. The states of Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio signed onto a plan to launch interstate water quality pilot trades in the Ohio River Basin in 2012. The grant award will help EPRI develop the trading registry to operate the Ohio River Basin program.

Conservation Innovation Grants are also offered at the State level and in Kentucky, CIG availability was announced earlier in the year to stimulate the development, adoption, and technologies related to water quality, soil quality and agriculture energy. Applications were accepted from across the Commonwealth. Kentucky NRCS set aside $200,000 to support the grants in fiscal year 2012. Today, Karen Woodrich, State Conservationist for USDA's Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) in Kentucky, announced the selection of two grant projects from the University of Kentucky Department of Plant and Soil Sciences. The projects will be to develop technologies that demonstrate effectiveness of mobile cloud computing base tools for corn nitrogen management and to demonstrate the potential on-farm environmental and economic benefits of long-term stands of switchgrass.

"Conservation Innovation Grants help spur creativity and problem-solving on Kentucky's farms," said Woodrich. "They (CIGs) allow the best minds in America to develop unique and innovative solutions that will help make conservation more efficient in the future."

NRCS administers CIG as part of the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP). Grants are awarded to state and local governments, federally recognized Indian tribes, non-governmental organizations and individuals. NRCS uses CIG to invest in innovative, on-the-ground conservation technologies and approaches with the goal of wide-scale adoption to address water quality and quantity, air quality, energy conservation, and environmental markets, among other natural resource issues.

For a complete list of CIG awardees and more information about NRCS conservation programs online, visit: <http://www.nrcs.usda.gov>.

Phase one - Diversification Program money available soon

The Kentucky Agricultural Development Board approved eleven model programs for the Pendleton County CAIP Programs. There will be three informational meetings held for the general public in reference to the programs available and the application process. Please RSVP for one of the following meetings so that we can ensure enough copies will be available for all attendees. Reservations can be made by calling 859-654-3395. The first two meetings will be held at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. on Tuesday, September 4 and the third meeting will be held at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, September 5.

All meetings will be held in the Pendleton County Extension Office Meeting Room. Regardless if you have participated in these programs in the past, it is recommended that everyone interested in participating to attend one of these information meetings as some processes may have changed. Please call 859-654-3395 for more information.

NRCS Announces Grants to Help Farmers Adapt to Drought

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) announced the availability of up to $5 million in grants to evaluate and demonstrate agricultural practices that help farmers and ranchers adapt to drought. NRCS is taking applications for Conservation Innovation Grants (CIG) to help producers build resiliency into their production systems so they can adapt to climatic extremes, such as the historic drought impacting the nation.

State Conservationist for Kentucky NRCS, Karen Woodrich said, "Many of the counties in western Kentucky have been severely impacted by the drought conditions." She added, "This funding will encourage new technologies that should help farms become more resilient to drought in the future."

NRCS is offering the grants to partnering entities to evaluate innovative, field-based conservation technologies and approaches. These technologies and/or approaches should lead to improvements such as enhancing the water-holding capacity in soils and installing drought-tolerant grazing systems.

Grant applications are due Oct. 15, 2012. Private individuals, Tribes, local and state governments and non-governmental organizations can apply.

Funds will be awarded through a competitive grants process for projects lasting for one to three years. Apply electronically at www.grants.gov or contact the NRCS National CIG office at (703) 235-8065.

NRCS is especially interested in projects that demonstrate:

- Cropping or grazing systems that increase resiliency to drought through improved soil health;
- Increases in available soil water holding capacity by enhancing organic matter with reduced tillage, cover crops and organic amendments;
- Improvements in water use efficiency for agricultural production;
- Coordination with NRCS Plant Material Centers in using drought resistant plants and practices;
- Recommendations for appropriate nutrient management following an extended drought;
- Analysis on a regional basis of how agricultural production and conservation systems fared during drought conditions;
- Agricultural approaches that flourished in low-precipitation areas;
- Traditional/historical production practices that have proven effective in dealing with drought;
- Alternative feeding systems for confined animal operations that incorporate novel drought-tolerant feedstocks;
- Alternative housing or cooling systems for improved energy efficiency and better climate control in confined animal operations;
- Technologies that reduce water use in confined animal operations.

By: Lovina Eicher

It is a nice, sunny Thursday forenoon. So far nights have been cool which make for some nice sleeping weather. It has been getting chilly enough at night that most of our windows were closed and it was still comfortable in the house. Our thermometer showed 49 degrees Sunday morning. I wouldn't be surprised if we had an early frost. With the drought we've had I can't imagine that our canning jars will be filled like other years. I canned some more dill pickles and made three more gallons of freezer pickles. Since we hold church services at our house twice next spring I want to make sure we have plenty. We made some fresh pickles for sister Emma's church services. I think my cucumbers have produced the most out of my garden. I have tomatoes but not like other years. I have canned 32 quarts of tomato juice so far and one batch of salsa. Today I have enough tomatoes to make more salsa. I canned 15-pints of Serrano peppers. Emma gave me the peppers because I was unable to get the Serrano plants this year. We do have banana and jalapeno peppers but I prefer Serrano for canning.

We use the banana peppers by taking the seeds out and stuffing them with cream cheese and shredded Colby cheese. Then we wrap bacon around them and use toothpicks to keep the bacon in place. Put them on the grill until the bacon is done. Those go fast around here. I have done the same with jalapenos but they are a lot hotter than the bananas.

Elizabeth's friend Timothy and Susan's friend Mose helped Joe and the boys butcher our 14 old laying hens, Saturday. I cooked the meat off the bones which I then put into broth. It did not take the men long to do the butchering. I think this is the first time the girls and I got out of butchering chickens. We appreciated their help.

Joe and daughter Elizabeth are both working at the factories today. Susan, 16, and Verena, 14, are weeding in the garden. The weeds took over with all the rain we had but we won't complain. It was a much-needed rain. Benjamin, 13, Joseph, 10, and Kevin, 6 are doing some cleaning out in the barn that Joe wanted done. Loretta, 12, and Lovina, 8, are washing the dishes and sweeping the floors. They are all trying to get their jobs finished before lunchtime so they can have free time this afternoon.

Our local apple farms will not have apples or cider to sell this year due to the late frost. There is a shortage of fruit here in Michigan this year. Still haven't heard if there will be many grapes. The boys dug up our storage potatoes and it is our smallest crop ever.

Loretta wanted me to teach her how to use the treadle sewing machine yesterday afternoon. She seems to be catching on fast. Pushing the treadle back and forth takes more effort for her but it almost seems like therapy. She is getting eager to learn how to sew. I told her if I get time today I will help her cut out a dress for herself and she can learn how to sew it. She will have surgery on September 10 to have her heel cords lengthened on both feet. I hope and pray it will be a success. She is so limited to what she can do. I bought new shoes for her this week. Finding a pair of shoes that work well for her can be a challenge. We did find out a shoe with a wide heel to it gives her more support where her heel cannot touch the floor. Some shoes work for awhile and then start hurting her feet. We will put everything into God's hands and see what results the surgery brings.

May God bless all you readers for your support and encouragement it helps knowing others care.

This week I will share a tomato soup recipe.

INGREDIENTS:

- 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups tomato juice
- 2 cups cold milk

DIRECTIONS:

Saute onion in butter. Stir in flour, sugar, salt, and pepper.

Cook until smooth and bubbly, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Gradually stir in tomato juice. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Boil 1 minute. Stir hot tomato juice mixture gradually into the cold milk. Heat rapidly to serving temperature and serve immediately.
